A BLESSING IN DISGUISE (НЕ БЫЛО БЫ СЧАСТЬЯ, ДА НЕСЧАСТЬЕ ПОМОГЛО)

At the age of 37, Vitaly Mikhailovich lost his eyesight and his favorite job, survived five operations, but his eyesight could not be restored. It was necessary to find a work that would not need large material costs for raw materials, and would give a result – products. Since he has always been connected with the forest and nature, he decided to start weaving baskets from willow vines. He had to learn to weave on his own, because this skill was forgotten and there were almost no masters left. After making the first basket, he realized that this work was slow and time-consuming, and even more so for a person with bad eyesight. And as his eyesight continued to worsen, he began to invent and manufacture various devices, model and equipment that would allow a blind person to perform work quickly and efficiently, preserving the shape and size of the manufactured products.

FROM SIMPLE TO COMPLEX

Having mastered the first weaving skills, Vitaly went to Urzhum to the master who made wicker furniture – Nikolai Gradoboev. After seeing his work, he was delighted with the skill of this man. Vitaly Mikhailovich had a dream – to do such things. he did not want to copy other people's work, so he began to develop his own models of products, moving on to more and more complex ones, including furniture. The main thing was originality, comfort and quality. He created his own technology for making furniture using birch bark for lining of chairs, stools and table surfaces. Made the furniture design more durable and safe.

STRONG PERFORMANCE

- His talent has been recognized. In 2002 he received the diploma of the IV All-Russian Festival of Artistic Creativity of Disabled people and the certificate of the nominee of the International Award "Philanthropist", which is awarded for outstanding achievements in the sphere of culture and art.

CONTINUATION OF CREATIVITY

- Vitaly Mikhailovich decided that the potential was not fully used and he could do a lot. Enjoying the beauty of his native land. when he went to the forest for a vine, lines were composed and then whole poems. He describes nature as a person who feels part of it, so his imagery is unusual, he sees the world from the inside, with a special vision.

How was the poet born in me? I don't know myself. In 1996, I met a local poet A.V. Ushakov, was delighted and amazed by his poems. The acquaintance was the stimulus for writing his poems. The lines began to take shape somehow by themselves. But I couldn't write them down, because I had been living for more than a decade years, practically seeing nothing. Therefore, I had to memorize my poems. It's not difficult if there aren't many verses. But life gave birth to new and new lines in my soul. And then I had to learn to write, but already in a special alphabet – Braille for the blind. Having mastered this type of writing, I began to write down everything that I had to memorize before

A LITTLE BIT ABOUT EVERYTHING

For six years, Vitaly Mikhailovich has published four poetry books: "My Ship", "The Soul demands Pain", "Fulcrum", "White on White", as well as several electronic collections of poems and songs based on his poems.

THE SOULFUL WORLD OF CREATIVITY TALENT

The poet's poems contain both philosophical reflections and deep unity with nature, with his native land. They help readers overcome doubts, find the right solutions in everyday situation, find themselves and a point of support in themselves. And the poems that you will read instill belief that, no matter how difficult it is, overcoming is possible. For a poet, this is the most important thing; – to be understood, to become necessary to the reader, to help him understand himself and believe in himself.

A SOUND MIND IN A SOUND BODY

(В ЗДОРОВОМ ТЕЛЕ — ЗДОРОВЫЙ ДУХ)

Over time, his health began to worsen, constant colds overcame him. He decided to restore his health not with pills, but by hardening his body. At first, he poured cold water in the bath, and then in summer, in any weather, he began to swim in the pond. And now, for several years, Uncle Vitya, in any weather, goes swimming every day at 10 o'clock with a wand in his hands.

IF A PERSON WANTS TO ACHIEVE IN LIFE, HE WILL ACHIEVE EVERYTHING, NO MATTER WHAT DIFFICULTIES AND PROBLEMS. THE MAIN THING IN THIS IS NOT TALENT, BUT DILIGENCE, PURPOSE AND PERSEVERANCE, WILLPOWER.

THIS CAN BE SEEN IN THE EXAMPLE OF OUR
TALENTED NEIGHBOR VITALY PODLEVSKIKH
